Refugees welcome

HELPING HAND: James Green in the scooter next to his wife, Tracy and Sarah Louise Green, one of their three daughters

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

One family from Northampton is standing tall during the refugee crisis by saying they will give three orphaned children from Syria a new home.

James Green and his wife Tracy along with their seven children, four boys and three girls aged from 20 years to nine years old, are prepared to give three young children from Syria a new life and new hope.

James who has been watching the Syrian refugee crisis unfold on television came to a decision today, Monday morning.

Both he and his wife wanted to help those children who needed help.

Speaking at his home in Bouverie Walk, James, 62, said: "My simple answer to why do I want to help is because I was brought up in an orphanage in Ireland.

"I do not want to put any of these children into an orphanage for years and years and I along with my wife, we are prepared to help some of these children in Syria. Seeing the little baby dead on the beach made me cry as no child deserves this and no child deserves to die before their parents.

"I want to be able to give a loving caring home to these children and to be able to give them my time."

Mr Green said he hoped other people in Northampton would step forward be prepared to give a family or a mother and baby a new home.

Editor's Letter

We don't need to be shocked to find our inner decency

It has been nice to see an upsurge in support for the idea of helping refugees.

Unlike many, I don't think it was simply the horrific image of a drowned toddler on a beach that changed people's minds overnight.

A few weeks ago I was talking in this column about my own simmering sense of shame at the way the UK was trying to turn its back on the suffering of these desperate people.

We were doing our best to ignore the bodies washing up on the Mediterranean holiday beaches.

The fiasco of Calais has created a siege mentality in this country and has been brought into mean focus by the era of austerity.

We are ready to tear each other apart fighting over every handful of corn this top ten economy deems fit to sprinkle in front of the masses, whether it comes in the form of a state benefit, ten minutes with the GP, a place in a school or even a job.

Deep down we all want the world to be a little bit better because we were in it

And of course, abandoning everything you know and own, risking death and a lifetime of exclusion and poverty to come and do the UK's most unpopular jobs, is considered the very worst kind of queue jumping in this country.

Great Britain, the country that abolished slavery, pretty much invented sport (and therefore fair play), gave the world some of its greatest moments in culture and art and in fact wrote the European Convention on Human Rights (British lawyers), is better than this. Individually we are better than this. Collectively we are better than this.

Aspirations are not just about money. There is never going to be enough money. The economy will stop working if there is enough money. Deep down we all want the world to be a little bit better because we were in it.

We want to help the refugees because we are decent people who cannot enjoy what little we have when there are people who are suffering because they have nothing. The dreadful image of a three-year-old refugee face down in the sand just made it OK to say it.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Crash pilot dies

A pilot has died following a light aircraft crash at Hinton-in-the-Hedges airfield in south Northants. The accident happened last Friday at noon. Police have since identified the pilot as 39-year-old Adam Abraham, from south London.

New Starbucks

A planning application to open one of the UK's largest Starbucks in Northampton's Market Square has been approved. The US chain will open up shop at the current That's Entertainment store in November.

Assisted dying

Northampton South MP David Mackintosh will vote against the assisted dying bill tomorrow. The proposed law would allow doctors to give a lethal dose to terminally-ill patients who have less than six months to live and have requested it.

Teen 'slapped'

A teenage girl was followed by a teenage boy, who then grabbed her by the arms and slapped her, before the girl then ran away. The assault happened on Rockingham Road in Corby at around 5.35pm last Saturday.

Fatal collision

A 30-year-old driver died in a fatal collision in Silverstone, Northants last Wednesday. Officers were called at 7.30pm, after a vehicle, for reasons yet unknown, lost control on a hill on the A413 Brackley Road at Silverstone.

Vicar interrupts wedding for a selfie

A good-humoured vicar gave a bride a pleasant surprise when he unexpectedly interrupted her wedding ceremony to take a snap with a selfie stick.

Emma Scarborough, 26, had walked up the aisle and met her husband-to-be Jamie, 28, at the altar when vicar Paul Frost said he had something to do before the vows.

He then pulled out a selfie stick and snapped a photo of the wedding party at St John's Anglican Church in Corby.

He is thought to be the first-ever vicar to use a selfie stick at a wedding.

Mum-of-two Emma, a home carer from Corby, said she had no idea the vicar had planned the stunt with the best man.

Olly lookalike has funk factor

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northampton singer-songwriter and Olly Murs lookalike Jamie Benkert has Uptown Funked his way through to the next round of the X Factor.

The 25-year-old, a health care assistant at St Andrew's Hospital, took to the stage on the ITV competition in Saturday's show in the hope of getting a full set of yeses from the judges.

But his journey to the next round wasn't plain sailing, with judge Simon Cowell bringing a stop to his act mid-way through his rendition of a Murs-inspired track called Dance All Night.

A bemused Cheryl Versini Fernandez then said: 'Is that by Olly?' before Cowell told him: 'Jamie it's like you have been watching Olly for years! Everything!'

"Have you ever watched

MURS DOUBLE:
Jamie Benkert was dubbed as Olly's twin a movie called Single White Female? Watch it and Olly, lock your door!"

Simon then asked Jamie to perform his second choice - which was a medley of pop songs including Uptown Funk.

The audience burst into dance while Jamie sang the big hits, and when it came down to the judges' decisions - Cheryl, Nick Grimshaw and Rita Ora all gave a yes and put him through to bootcamp.

But despite his opinion of Jamie improving, Cowell said no, and said: "I thought the second song was better than the first song, I think we are going to have to un-Olly you."

Services survey

The University of Northampton's Institute for Public Safety, Crime and Justice is researching the daily challenges members of the police and fire services experience in their roles.

They aim to interview 150 members of staff.

Press pause before tweeting

Lawrence John speaks to journalism lecturer Matt Walsh about the use of social media

In the fast paced world of instant posting on social media things go on line with a simple click or tap and there is very little thinking going on.

In a millisecond we Tweet or Facebook our followers or friends who are then free to re-tweet or re-post our thoughts or videos.

Matt Walsh, the senior journalism lecturer at The University of Northampton is asking people to pause and think before they hit send or post.

He wants people to think and take a judgement call of thinking whether they would like to see a particular video or comment on their timeline.

This comes in the aftermath of the deaths of TV reporter Alison Parker, 24, and cameraman Adam Ward, 27, who were both shot dead by a former colleague during a live interview in Moneta, Virginia, for US local TV station WDBJ7.

The following day The Sun, Daily Mirror, Daily Star, The Times, The Telegraph and the Daily Mail used images filmed by the killer Vester Lee Flanagan which showed a terrified Alison Parker as she realised she had been shot.

Reacting to the shocking event he said: "How that video should be used has raised fundamental ethical questions for journalists covering the story."

"This seems to me to be a disgusting fail-

SHOT DEAD: Alison Parker and Adam Ward killed during a live interview in Moneta, Virginia. Below: Matt Walsh, senior journalism lecturer at The University of Northampton

ure of editorial judgement and I applaud the newspapers that resisted the temptation to publish the most sensational images."

He now wants people to think about their own boundaries of taste and decency.

"It is not something they might have thought about before but the way in which images and video of this killing spread so fast it is time people's attitudes changed to what they feel they should post or not post."

The ex-deputy editor of ITV News said: "On people's own time lines they need to be thinking now where do they draw the line. I would say to them 'think before you transmit that photograph or video.' What this is doing is questioning our understanding of social media, as we now have to use our own judgement of what we publish."

"We now have an obligation to think about what we publish and not only put on our timeline but other people's."

"They might say 'Why did you do that? I do not want to see that image.'

"Newspapers and journalists are under added pressure as so much information is available on social media."

"Some drew a line and said they do not want to push it further, while others used still photographs from the video filmed by Vester Lee Flanagan, also known as Bryce Williams, who filmed the shootings himself then posted graphic video footage of the shooting on his Twitter and Facebook accounts."

Cobblers fans in takeover protest

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A 'peaceful protest' by Northampton Town fans will take place at this weekend's clash with Oxford United over the long-running takeover and redevelopment saga.

Earlier this week, the H&P reported that Cobblers fans have launched a social media campaign with the Twitter hashtag #WeWantAnswers, in a bid to put pressure on chairman David Cardoza to reveal the prospective new owners of the club.

Frustrated fans are now preparing to hold a protest at Saturday's home match versus Oxford Utd, which will see the home supporters hold up posters with the words #WeWantAnswers.

This club's supporters trust has also announced it is backing the protest, despite a statement by Mr Cardoza saying the takeover process is 'almost at an end'.

Elected representative of the Northampton Town Supporters' Trust, Andy Clarke, said: "The chairman is doing a deal with a big potential owner. So it's not unnatural that negotiations prove to be difficult and commercially sensitive. So you can't actually give all the information.

"But that is not the issue for us. It's the fact the chairman is not acknowledging that all the supporters and the team need some reassurance.

"He has a duty of care to all the interests that go with the football club. And I think that has been found wanting."

All fans participating in the protest will hold up question mark signs with the #WeWantAnswers slogan on them - in the hope the chairman will finally take notice.

Cloudy2Clear Windows - Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.' So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Louise has over two million subscribers on YouTube and 1.4m followers on Twitter.

By Sam Potter

IF YOU suffer from lower back pain and sciatica, you are one of over 20 Million Adults in the UK with this crippling spinal condition.

Shooting, stabbing and burning pains from the lower back region, often teamed with pain through the buttocks and down the legs are all classic symptoms of Sciatica or "pinched nerves".

In severe cases, it often leads to muscle wasting and or numbness with a constant tingling down to the tip of the toes. Left untreated, the intense pain can rapidly wear you down and drain the joy out of life.

New Treatment Discovery

Recent advances in the treatment of sciatica and lower back pain have led to the development and huge success of Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care.

The excellent results of this treatment have been published in major medical journals. Success rates as high as 90% now have some leading back surgeons recommending their patients to try this treatment first before considering back surgery.

In Bedfordshire, you can try Non-Surgical Re-constructive Spinal Care at the Atlas Wellness Centre – the office of lower back pain and Sciatica Relief Expert Peter Olsson.

Peter and his team of fully trained spinal care specialists have helped over 4,026 patients find relief from their agonising back pain and sciatica.

VILE ABUSE: Cllr Gareth Eales hits back at the vicious attacks directed at him

Councillor abused as an 'ISIS supporter'

A Northampton borough councillor has hit back at what he has described as 'the level of vicious and personal hatred that was aimed in my direction, for expressing my humanity' when saying the town should help the Syrian refugees.

Cllr Gareth Eales, who is the deputy leader of the Labour Group, has been left shocked after he was labelled "an ISIS supporter", "a traitor".

He said: "I was quite shocked by the level of vicious and personal hatred that was aimed in my direction, for doing nothing other than expressing my humanitarian view."

"I refer to comments that labelled me to name only a few... 'an ISIS supporter', 'a traitor' and one person

'hoped my children would be raped and butchered'... anyone that thinks comments like these are correct or acceptable needs some help."

"Another world is possible, but it must start with people actually caring, not blaming or hating each other." You can read Cllr Eales full statement at www.northampton-news-hp.co.uk

Town to take in Syrian refugees

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northampton will 'play its part' in re-homing Syrian refugees, the borough council has announced.

Councillor Mary Markham, the leader of Northampton Borough Council, says the authority will be meeting with the Government to 'offer our support in any co-ordinated effort'.

The news comes after Prime Minister David Cameron announced on Monday that the UK will take in 20,000 refugees by 2020.

Cllr Markham said in a statement: "We have all been affected by the images of families and children who have had to abandon their home and flee in search of safety and security. Northampton will play its part in helping these people."

"Later this month the Borough Council will be meeting with the Government to offer our support in any co-ordinated effort. There will be a national initiative to re-home Syrian refugees and we will play our part in that."

According to Labour leadership candidate, Yvette Cooper, more than 40 authorities have signalled their intent to re-home refugees - which is around 500 refugees for each authority over the next parliament.

It is not known how many refugees Northampton would re-home, although this information is expected to be released in the coming weeks.

The move by the council comes a week after the opposition Labour group said Northampton has a 'moral duty of care' to help the refugees who 'desperately need help'.

The group's deputy leader, Gareth Eales, had called on the council to act, and said he has been left 'appalled' at the humanitarian crisis now facing Europe.

Facebook 'weeping' post goes viral

A Facebook post by a Corby borough councillor who was left in tears by the heartbreaking image of a drowned Syrian boy washed up on a beach in Turkey has gone viral.

Matt Reay posted the heartfelt message last Tuesday after seeing the shocking picture, and told how it was 'the first time I've wept at the news in a long time'.

The message, which Mr Reay uses to urge Britain to give its support to the refugees, was then shared over 5,000 times in just 48 hours.

In the post he said: "If it was me, I'd come to Britain. How would I feel if I was told 'sorry, we're not letting any of you in'? I can't express how inhumane and heartless that makes us. But that's what we're doing now."

'LOVELY LADY': Judy Carne pictured with Rowan and Martin at the height of her fame

Tributes pour in for Laugh-In star Judy

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northampton comedy actress and 'sock it to me' girl Judy Carne has died aged 76.

The Laugh-In star, born Joyce Audrey Botterill in 1939, died on Thursday, September 3, at Northampton General Hospital after a battle with pneumonia.

Tributes have been pouring in for the actress, who had been living in the village of Pitsford, with friends describing her as a 'lovely lady'.

Carne's niece, Marnie Butcher, said she has been left feeling 'very sad' by her auntie's passing, and said in a Facebook post: "RIP Judy Carne, you're not suffering anymore."

Pitsford resident Jo Woolard, a friend of Carne, told the H&P: "She was such a lovely lady and it was really nice having a celebrity living in the village."

"It is very sad that she has died and I know many people in the village will feel the same."

"She always kept herself to herself whilst living here, but we often saw her walking her two dogs."

A Facebook page called 'Northampton old faces' has also seen tributes flooding in, with Caroline Farrell posting: "Very sad news. Lovely lady, met her a few times at dog training classes many years ago. Thoughts are with her family and friends."

Marie Hanlon wrote: "RIP thoughts and prayers are with her familyxx". Phil Thompson said: "Sock it to 'em Judy. God bless you."

Carne, the ex-wife of actor Burt Reynolds and who is best remembered for the phrase 'Sock it to me' on the 1960s comedy show Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In, grew up in Kingsthorpe, Northampton.

Her parents Harold and Kathy owned a fruit and veg shop in the area, while Carne, as a child, began to develop a talent for acting.

In 1956, Judy Carne made her first television performance in a British programme titled The First Day of Spring.

After building a respectable career on British TV, she flew to America in search of new fame and fortune, going on to star in Fair Exchange and Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In.

The show would often feature Judy being pranked, including being soaked in water whenever she said her phrase, 'Sock it to me!'.

'Inspirational' former school teacher passes away

An inspirational woman who taught generations of Northampton schoolgirls has died at the age of 87.

Wanda Davies taught Spanish and History of Art for more than 40 years at Northampton High School for Girls in Derngate.

With her trusty Raleigh bicycle, which she'd had since she was a pupil at the school herself, she was a much-loved and familiar figure around town.

Suffering from cancer, she spent the last few months of her life at Spencer House Care Home in Cliftonville, where she died peacefully on Sunday, September 6.

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: Migrant policy needed

Tony Clarke

This is the first in a series of monthly blog's by Tony Clarke, Green Party Spokesperson Foreign Affairs. Tony was a former Labour MP for Northampton South from 1997-2005.

It is difficult to believe that the EU has a commonly agreed asylum policy, mainly because most of its member states fail miserably to implement it or cooperate with each other over how best to resettle genuine asylum seekers.

Instead, as seen in Hungary and closer to home at Calais, we have governments spending their millions on fences and walls and tighter border controls which actually prevent them meeting their responsibilities under those aforementioned international agreements.

But EU state governments need to wake up to some hard cold facts, first of all that their ever more expensive and expansive border controls are completely ineffective, unworkable, and have not and will not stop migrants travelling in the hope of protection and or a better life.

Migration is here to stay.

The vast majority of those seeking a new life do so through no choice of their own, having to flee with their families from war zones and oppressive governments. On top of that of course there will be others, a smaller but significant number, who simply want and seek a better life – want to escape the economic instability and poverty prevalent in their respective homelands.

So what is the answer? We could divert the monies wasted on security and borders and use it to establish a properly managed and funded resettlement scheme. Individual EU states should accept those already in their countries should have the right to remain and stop wasting money on chaotic appeal processes.

Secondly, those entering the EU should be diverted to new properly managed migration centres, able to cope with the tens of thousands who are displaced and migrating on an annual basis.

To gain control of the crisis, individual governments have to cede control to a collective system of migrant management and resettlement.

Outraged that Britain is forgetting black refugees

I'm very cross at the moment. I'll tell you why: so much injustice taking place right in our face.

Hundreds and thousands of Africans die at sea en route to Italy and that's unfortunate. One three year old drowns off the coast of Turkey and an inquiry is launched into this humanitarian disaster.

Conclusion: black lives have no value, they're economic migrants – their white counterparts are refugees and fleeing war!

Britain is now shamed into taking in thousands of Syrian refugees following pictures of a drowned little boy on the front page of a newspaper!

Thousands of blacks are still stuck in Calais and detention centres in Italy to be processed and sent back.

They are fleeing wars as well in Somalia and Eritrea, but just because they are black they are classified as economic migrants and not refugees. If there's any justice in this place? So much discrimination in the system.

Name and address withheld

Readers react to news that town will rehome refugees

This week the H&P announced that Northampton Borough Council says it will rehome Syrian refugees, following David Cameron's announcement that Britain will allow 20,000 of them into the country. Here are what our readers thought of the news on Facebook:

MARY DRIVER: How about this council housing their own first before we accept refugees? This town has too many on its waiting list already. Does it mean the refugees will queue hop into housing before the people of Northampton that have and still are waiting years. I agree we should help but not at the expense of our own! Also the schools in Northamptonshire are at busting point so where are the children of these refugees going to be allocated schooling? Again will it be at the expense of local children not getting into their nearest school and having to travel long distances? All of these issues need to be addressed before taking in thousands of these refugees. Please Northampton councils think carefully and put the local people first after all we work and pay our taxes too.

MEG VALLANCE: I'm sorry but this is unfair. Me and my partner have been desperate for a council house. I have lived in Northants since I was 14 and yet have to wait two more years until we can be on the list. I am a care leaver and am also disabled. They put us on the list for a short while before realising it is only my partner's family who live over here. Even though I struggle to walk all we were offered was a first floor flat. We have to private rent and it is costing more than we can afford and still be able to pay for other things. There are people on a 10 year waiting list for council properties. Why should our needs be trampled on?

Fines top £4k for litterbugs

LITTER CRACKDOWN: Northampton Borough Council has launched an anti-litter campaign in a bid to combat the issue

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A crackdown on litter louts in Northampton led to almost 100 fines totalling over £4,000 being handed out last year.

Northampton Borough Council issued 93 fixed penalty notices to people in 2014/2015, which was a rise of 17 on the year before.

With fines starting from a reduced £50, before rising to £80 if not paid within 14 days, this means at least £4,650 in fines were handed out last year.

The council says the real problem with littering in the town centre is cigarette ends, often found at bus stops and outside pubs and clubs.

So far this year – since April – there have been 23 fines handed out, but in a further bid to tidy up the town, the local authority this month launched an anti-litter campaign to educate people on the realities of 4,000 tonnes of litter being picked up every year.

Talking about the use of fixed penalty notices, which have been in force in Northampton since December 2004, Councillor Mary Markham, the leader of Northampton Borough Council, said: "They are a last resort. We would much rather everyone did their bit to keep Northampton clean, however where visitors and businesses continue to litter we will take action where necessary."

BIG TRANSFORMATION: Artist's impressions of the Barrack Road academy, the country's largest ever school conversion

First images of £30m academy

Artist's impressions have been released of a new £30 million school, which will transform the town's derelict Royal Mail sorting office on Barrack Road into a state-of-the-art free school.

Meanwhile, applications for places at the school – a £30 million development which is the country's largest ever school conversion – will open from Monday, September 14.

The Northampton International Academy will be an all-through free school for pupils aged from 4 to 19 years. It will eventually grow by 2022 to take in 2,220 pupils. This will be made up of 420 primary, 1,500 secondary and 300 pupils over the age of 16. School days will be 8am-6pm.

The academy will specialise in foreign and modern languages, and will open its doors in September 2016. Work has already begun on the site.

For those about rock, Towcester salutes you. Towcester Rockscool is holding its annual family open day with registration for the new Rockscool schools year on Saturday.

It will take place from 12.30pm to 2.30pm at Nicholas Hawksmoor School, Towcester.

This will be a picnic in the park event with various bands from Rockscool playing during the afternoon.

The bands will include those which performed at the National Festival of Music for Youth in July.

Anyone interested in joining a band or learning to play an instrument is welcome to attend the school.

It is a chance to go along and meet the students and staff and listen to the bands.

The Parents and Friends Association will provide refreshments. Visitors are invited to bring a picnic and enjoy the music.

Rockscool is open to students aged from 6 – 18 years. It offers people the opportunity to play in bands as well as have individual tuition in guitar, bass, keyboard, piano and voice.

Towcester Rockscool is held at Nicholas Hawksmoor School, Towcester, on Saturdays from 12.30-5.30pm during term-time.

Towcester Rockscool also offers a Wednesday evening session.

This takes place from 6.30-9pm for any aged 18 – 80+ years who would like to play in bands, as well as evening individual tuition in guitar and drums for all ages.

For further information about how to join Rockscool i on Saturday or Wednesday contact Ros Miles by telephone on 0800 917 3224 or 07738 974220, and e-mail: rosmiles@rockschools.co.uk

Helping economy

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

Heritage is big business and Northamptonshire is about to prime the pump in order to showcase the county's historical treasures

This week it is Northamptonshire's Heritage Week, which will culminate in The Heritage in the Economy Conference taking place on Friday at Boughton House, the Duke of Buccleuch and Queensberry's home, in Geddington. The event will explore the important contribution that heritage can make to the economy.

The conference has attracted some of the leading names in heritage, including Sir Laurie Magnus, chair of Historic England; Nick Way, director general, Historic Houses Association; Ros Kerslake, chief executive of Princes Regeneration Trust; and Taryn Nixon, chief executive of MOLA (Museum of London Archaeology) alongside highly respected local and regional experts.

Looking ahead to the conference tomorrow, Jo Lappin, NEP chief executive said: "We are delighted to have attracted such an excellent lineup of speakers for the Heritage in the Economy Conference, which is recognition of the important heritage offer available here in Northamptonshire. This is an absolute must attend event for anybody involved in the heritage sector, who wants to hear how the sector can demonstrate real economic returns. We have some excellent case studies, so that people really can learn from what works

"This really will be the perfect end to what promises to be a brilliant week showcasing some of Northamptonshire's excellent heritage, including Rockingham Castle, Prebendal Manor, Canons Ashby, Fotheringhay Village, Kirby Hall, and Holdenby House. Our heritage offer really is exceptional and we want more people to come and experience this".

Next month, a key meeting between the heritage, arts and sporting sectors in the county is planned to look at how Northamptonshire can provide visitors with a full county-wide experience.

COUNTY'S HISTORY: Rockingham Castle and, left, Fotheringhay

Jo said: "We want to look at what we can offer the visitor and think about what works well and where we need to do better."

"The Heritage Week is the first step in raising the profile of what the county has to offer. The meeting in October will look at how we can build on this and give visitors an integrated experience. This would cover heritage, the arts and sport."

"Heritage Week is the start of a five year plan to raise the profile of heritage in the county."

Travis Perkins plc is collaborating with charity Northampton Community Spaces to refurbish Standen's Barn Community Centre from September 10 - 11.

Standen's Barn is in need of a refurbishment, (having recently been subject to external vandalism), in just two days, the team will refit the kitchen and paint and redecorate three main rooms, including the meeting room and games room. Travis Perkins plc will supply all internal building and decorating materials for the project, and volunteers from the management team will also be taking part in the painting and decorating of Standen's Barn.

Board to run

The county's Health and Wellbeing Board members led by example this weekend when they took part in the Northampton Half Marathon on Sunday.

Northamptonshire County Council's Director of Public Health and Wellbeing Professor Akeem Ali ran alongside two vice chairs of the health and wellbeing board - Vice Chancellor of the University of Northampton Professor Nick Petford and chair of Nene Clinical Commissioning Group Dr Darin Seiger.

The event saw more than 500 participants running 13.1 miles.

Get your kicks

It's kick off for new football sessions at West Glebe Park in Corby.

Walking Football, a walking version of the usually fast paced sport will be taking place every Tuesday at West Glebe Park, starting on September 15, from 11.30am - 12.30pm.

Walking Football is open to men and women of all ages.

These sessions have been organised by Northamptonshire Football Association, Northampton Town Football Club and Corby Borough Council and will take place from 12.30pm - 1.30pm.

It's not too late to help hospice

My phone is telling me there is a 64 per cent chance of rain on Sunday, which is Cycle4Cynthia day.

I'm doing the 25 mile route, which is perhaps a tad underambitious, given that in June I was attempting a 100 mile mountain bike sportive.

But the reality of my quest for health and fitness is just that - it's real and therefore has to fit in with other real things such as work and family.

A friendly, fun, event like Cycle4Cynthia with a 50 mile option and a five mile option, is an ideal way to keep the momentum going and help a good cause.

Doing it in the rain doesn't sound much fun though.

Funnily enough it's not the worst weather for biking in. I personally find that battling wind is much more spirit sapping than a downpour.

Rain will keep you cool and you'll stay

dry if you've got the right clothes: lightweight, weatherproof, not too floppy. Gloves are definitely worth it whether it's raining or not, because 25 miles is about two to three hours of gripping handlebars.

More details, including downloadable entry and sponsorship forms and online registration, are now available at www.cycle4cynthia.co.uk while you can also follow the latest news on the ride on Facebook or call the Hospice on 01604 678088.

Librarian books a happy ending

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

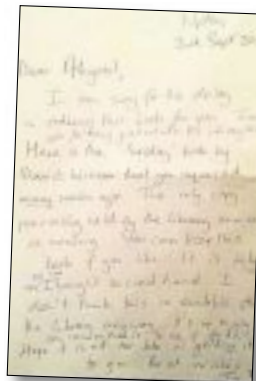

A 'lovely gesture' by a Northampton librarian who used his own money to buy a book for a customer before delivering it to her home with a touching letter went viral on Facebook.

The Weston Favell Library worker, called Tim, purchased a second-hand version of the children's book Tuesday by David Wiesner, after a woman requested it a few weeks ago, but was told it had gone missing.

Tim then delivered the book to the woman's house last Wednesday, along with a letter apologising for the delay, and saying that she can keep the book.

The woman, called Abigail, was so touched by the kind gesture, that she shared a picture of the letter on Facebook, which attracted over 400 likes in just two hours.

Her post reads: "So I have waited nearly two months for a book from the library to come in and the man who was dealing with the issue for me turned up at my home his evening on his bicycle, with his shopping to deliver it to me by hand with this lovely letter. He bought the book himself for me! Nice to know there are still genuine people out there. Thank you Tim, it was a lovely gesture!"

The book Abigail requested is a children's picture book which is often used by primary school teachers, and it tells the story of a day when a group of frogs go flying on their lily pads.

The letter from Tim, which people on Facebook described as a 'touching' gesture by a 'lovely' man, reads: "Dear Abigail, I am sorry for the delay in ordering this book for you."

"Thank you for being patient with the library service."

"Here is the Tuesday book by David Wiesner that you requested many weeks ago. The only copy previously held by the library service is missing. You can keep this book if you like. It is only one that I have bought second hand. I don't think it is suitable for the library anyway. It's up to you, you can return it to me if you don't want it."

"Hope it is not too late in getting it to you."

"Best wishes, Tim."

Turkish prison frees journalist

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A Northampton journalist who was arrested in Turkey and charged with 'aiding the terrorist organisation ISIS' has been freed from jail and has returned to the UK.

Former Northampton College student Jake Hanrahan, along with cameraman Philip Pendlebury, both from international news service Vice News, were arrested while filming in Diyarbakir on Thursday, August 27.

They were then charged last Monday with 'working on behalf of a terrorist organisation', before being transferred to a high-security jail.

But on Thursday they were both released, and returned to the UK in good health.

However, their Iraqi translator who was arrested with them two weeks ago, remains in jail.

Mr Hanrahan, 25, is now calling for his friend and colleague to be released.

He told BBC Radio 4: "Yes, it was a traumatic experience, but I think the biggest burden right now is the fact that my friend and colleague Mohammed Ismael Rasool is still in prison.

"That is the worst possible thing right now for us. We feel massive responsibility and Vice News are doing everything they can.

"It's not a question of, 'Oh the two western journalists are free and let's leave a guy behind'."

FA scores cash boost

The Northamptonshire County FA (NFA) is expected to receive £210,000 from The FA in the first year of its four-year strategy, which was announced this week.

It is anticipated the Northamptonshire FA will get £800,000, plus £60,000 from Sport England to grow the game in the county.

Priorities for the NFC include the promotion and development of 11-a-side and 90-minute football for both adult males and females, in addition to boys' and girls' youth football – including the growth of mini-soccer teams across the county.

Find out more in our story online.

Services launch vehicle

Police and Fire services in Northants have launched a new joint response vehicle in the south of the county to provide additional support to rural communities.

Known as the Rural Intervention Vehicle (RIV), it is staffed by a police officer and a fire officer and is part of the ongoing collaboration between Northants Police and Northants Fire and Rescue Service.

This is the second phase of a 12-month trial which began in East Northants in October 2014, where the team and vehicle are proving to be a well-used and valuable resource for policing and fire safety within the local community.

The RIV officers work alongside local colleagues to promote community safety, increase visibility in rural areas, develop even closer links with the community, and identify and resolve local issues.

Sex offender in jail for 12 years

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

A Predatory sex offender, who carried out sex offences, while on the sex offenders register, must now spend 12 years behind bars.

Anthony Francois, 41, from Wellingborough, appeared before His Honour Justice Timothy Smith, at Northampton Crown Court on Friday, September 4.

He was sentenced to 12 years in prison.

His sentence will be followed by four years on extended license.

This was deemed necessary for protecting the public and he must remain on the sex offenders register for life.

Francois was arrested in May 2014 and later charged with sexual offences committed between August 2013 and December 2013.

He pleaded not guilty, but was convicted by a jury, of three counts of rape, sexual assault and causing a person to engage in sexual activity without consent.

Detective Constable Billy Roberts, from Welling-

SEX OFFENDER: Anthony Francois has been jailed for 12 years borough CID, said: "Francois was on the sex offenders register at the time of these offences.

"He is clearly a persistent and predatory offender who not for the first time has targeted a vulnerable young woman.

"He has shown no remorse for his crimes and clearly presents a danger to women in general.

"The victim in this case, showed great courage in making the initial report and then subsequently by attending court to give evidence. Without her determination and resilience this man would still be at large and free to commit further offences."

What Your Agent Has To Say

All estate agents are the same – discuss

Marketing any product requires a combination of strategy, skills and tactics.

When it comes to property a popular myth abounds, ie. that all agents basically do the same.

Nothing could be further from the truth. So, how do you ensure the optimum result when selecting an agent?

All agents advertise on the internet, indeed some only use the 'net'!

The question to ask is – "what other innovative measures will you deploy on my behalf?"

Winkworth clients enjoy a positively different experience because:

We concentrate on individual properties within a defined price range – it's unrealistic to believe one agent can provide expertise across all sectors. You wouldn't take your BMW to be serviced at a Dacia dealership, and the same philosophy applies to marketing your home.

Our 64 London offices are financially incentivised to refer buyers. It works!

Sure – we use the internet, but proactively.

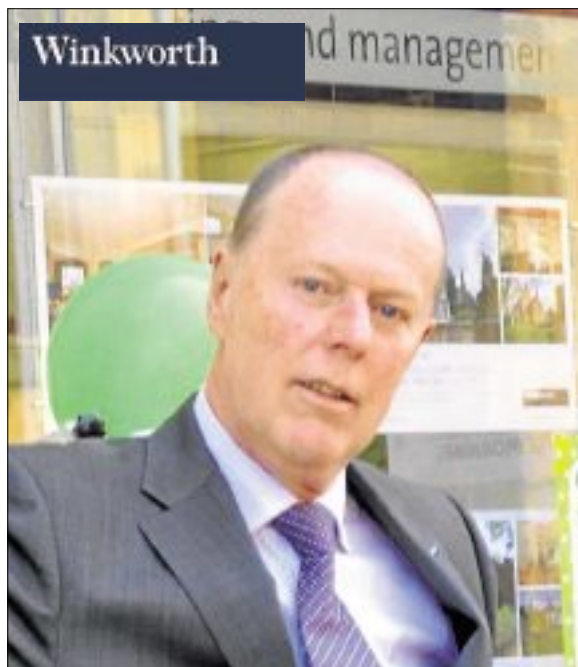

We don't just upload and hope for the best.

We also write in a more creative way, making your home stand out from the rest.

Our marketing is consummate – professional photography, colour brochures and floor plans, quality advertising, buyer qualification, accompanied viewings and skilled negotiation. All 100 Winkworth offices are owned by local business people, therefore unless we deliver there is no monthly pay cheque.

So, if you are thinking of selling or are already on the market, and dare to be different, then you know who to call!

You wouldn't take your BMW to be serviced at a Dacia dealership

At Millers our heart is in Northamptonshire, selling homes since 1989

Customer Reviews

"As far as we are concerned Millers dealt with the sale of the property in a most professional way."

"You went over and above our expectations in ensuring everything was in place and we moved on the date we aimed for. Your professionalism and manner were second to none, and we would have no hesitation in recommending your services to others going on the property ladder."

"Thank you Matthew. You have been brilliant, I would highly recommend you to friends or family wanting to sell or looking to buy a home."

"We recently completed the purchase of our property through Millers Estate Agents. It was a very positive experience from start to finish and our expectations were managed perfectly. Carl Myers was very professional and we particularly appreciated his frequent updates on the progress of the sale. Nothing was too much trouble. The whole process was a very refreshing and stress free experience. We would not hesitate to use Millers again when looking for a property or selling."

"Despite not being a great lover of estate agents Millers were a pleasure to work with and would definitely use them in the future."

Team-by-team
World Cup guide

by Frank Malley

AT 8pm on Friday, September 18 at Twickenham, following a ceremony expected to celebrate the day William Webb Ellis picked up a football and ran with it at Rugby School in 1823, England will line up against Fiji and the eighth Rugby World Cup will witness its opening act.

The six weeks which follow might not produce an epic sub-plot to rival that of Nelson Mandela, Springbok captain Francois Pienaar and the birth of the Rainbow Nation 20 years ago, but they will provide a welcome alternative to the great god of Premier League football as well as answering some of rugby's most intriguing questions.

Can the northern hemisphere, in its own backyard, add to its solitary World Cup triumph, when England prevailed in Sydney 12 years ago?

Can Ireland use their back-to-back Six Nations triumphs to provide inspirational forward Paul O'Connell, in almost certainly his last tournament, with a farewell fit for one of the greats?

Will Scotland, who seem at last to have remembered how to score tries under head coach Vern Cotter, be one of the tournament's dangerous floaters?

Which France will turn up, the one which lost embarrassingly to Tonga in the group phase four years ago or the one which lost undeservedly by a single point to New Zealand in the final?

Most of all, can anyone depose reigning champions New Zealand, whose legendary black shirts with the silver fern have become a barometer of excellence sweeping all before them these past four years? But the first question has to be: Who will emerge from the so-called group of death?

All major tournaments benefit when competition is keen from the opening gun. Pool A supplies just that, pitching England, Australia and Wales against each other, with the dangerous Fiji also in the mix while Uruguay provide the only 'soft touch'.

One of the big guns is bound to depart at the pool stage.

The chances are that the 'Twickenham factor' will ensure it is not England. True, Stuart Lancaster's men have displayed a worrying lack of discipline in their warm-up matches. At times they haemorrhage penalties while the set-piece at scrums and line-outs, the bedrock of their success, has proved to be fragile of late.

But, just as in 1966 when Alf Ramsey's team lifted the football World Cup at Wembley, they have home advantage. All England's big games are at Twickenham, where a packed house will belt out Jerusalem and Swing Low Sweet Chariot, and the added value from such Richie McCaw has been a colossus for New Zealand, but can he lead them to another World Cup triumph?

So who can stop this man?

stirring emotion should not be under-estimated.

England also have a prolific kicker in fly-half George Ford, a brilliant running full-back in Mike Brown and speedy three-quarters such as Anthony Watson with sublime finishing skills. The onus is on the pack to iron out recent problems and supply enough possession.

It is difficult not to see Australia also progressing. They have flourished under coach Michael Cheika, and look a much more coherent squad since their series defeat by the Lions in 2013.

A recent triumph against New Zealand in Sydney underlined their progress, especially up front, where they are bigger and beefier with the presence of players such as Scott Sio and Sekope Kepu, while Tongan-born former rugby league player Israel Folau provides the back-line stardust.

All of which is not good news for Wales. The Welsh are not easy to evaluate. They will certainly not lack fitness after heat training in Doha and copious jogs up the inclines of the Swiss Alps, but will sorely miss the devastating kicking of Leigh Halfpenny and silky skills of scrum-half Rhys Webb, who pulled out through injury.

Fly-half Dan Biggar will have to control the ebb and flow of a match better than he has done to date. And George North must produce the consistent brilliance he displayed as a British and Irish Lion in Australia in 2013. Too often for Wales, North has been on the periphery, rather than at the core of the action.

But then World Cups have always demanded big players stand tall on the grandest stage.

It is why Ireland will be looking to fly-half Jonathan Sexton, arguably the game's most complete playmaker now that New Zealand No.10 Dan Carter has shown signs of slipping ever so gradually over the hill.

It is why France, with a pack more solid than at any time under Philippe Saint-Andre will hope veteran Frederic Michalak can display one more sustained cameo of brilliance to augment the finishing talents of Yoann Huget and the physical presence of Mathieu Bastareaud.

Yet, following the completion of 48 matches in 13 venues across England and Wales, when it comes to who will lift the World Cup at Twickenham on October 31 it is difficult to see it in the hands of anyone other than New Zealand's Richie McCaw, the most capped Test rugby player of all-time.

McCaw, the man who played the last World Cup final with a broken foot, is the epitome of the cerebral rugby player. It is the marrying of the mental and the physical which makes McCaw arguably the best of all time.

Few would argue that if New Zealand won a third World Cup it would be a fitting finale.

World Cup records

The biggest win in Rugby World Cup history, when Australia beat Namibia in Adelaide in 2003.

37

Most games won in the competition, by New Zealand. Japan are the team beaten most often, with 21 defeats.

15

The record number of World Cup tries scored, by Jonah Lomu in 1995 and 1999.

52

The most tries scored in a single tournament, by New Zealand in 2003.

277

Jonny Wilkinson's record number of World Cup points.

The record number of tries scored by one player in a single World Cup match, amassed by Marc Ellis in New Zealand's 145-17 win over Japan in 1995.

When it comes to who will lift the World Cup at Twickenham on October 31 it is difficult to see it in the hands of anyone other than New Zealand's Richie McCaw

Denton really is related to the author Rudyard Kipling

Denton: the man who would be king

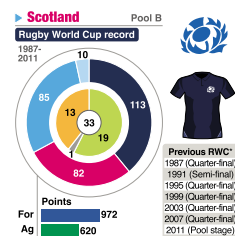

by Frank Malley

DAVID DENTON is the sort of man who lives by the maxim that no rugby player should ever take a backward step.

It is why he has no problem in declaring that Scotland can win the World Cup, despite having lost all five matches in this year's Six Nations championship.

Already the all-action Scotland No.8 has weighed up the possibilities of lining up in Pool B alongside South Africa, Samoa, Japan and the United States. He said: "Our first goal is to get out of the pool and then give ourselves every chance of winning the World Cup. We are in this sport to win.

"We have tough games, particularly against South Africa and Samoa, that we need to make sure we perform well in. It's a pool I think we can do well in and then, if we get a favourable quarter-final, we move on from there."

Where does the optimism, some might say romanticism, come from? A clue is in the name. David Kipling. Denton.

Denton really is related to Rudyard Kipling, the short-story writer, poet and novelist chiefly renowned for his tales and poems of British soldiers in India and his imaginative stories for children. It is not exactly the closest of relationships, but it is on his father's side and Denton has described it as "his grandfather's great uncle once removed".

No matter, the famous genes are in there somewhere and Denton, who was born in Marondera, Zimbabwe, and educated in South Africa, was brought up on a diet of The Jungle Book, If and The Man Who Would Be King.

Stirring tales are in his DNA and with Scotland – who lost narrowly to Ireland in their warm-up match in August – showing signs of significant improvement, there is hope that the saltires might be fluttering jauntily when the team start their campaign against Japan at Gloucester on September 23. There is much to suggest this is Denton's time.

In 2011 he was disappointed, missing out on the World Cup squad after coming off the bench and impressing in a 10-6 win over Ireland in a warm-up match. In retrospect, at 22, he was too green, although his 6ft 5ins 17st 7lb frame marked him out as one for the future.

As Scotland failed to reach the knockout stage for the first time in their history in that World Cup, perhaps fate was looking after the man whose rampaging running in the loose, have been one of the bright lights in what has been a dark period in Scotland rugby.

Denton's flaxen locks make him unmistakable when he is first to the breakdown point, first with the tackle, first with an inspired counter.

They are admirable qualities. However, whatever Denton says, they will not be enough for Scotland to win this World Cup. But don't rule out the odd shock.

David Denton shows his strength against Ireland

The way he trains is phenomenal.
He is the ultimate athlete

Henderson aims to 'do it for O'Connell'

Iain Henderson, tipped to succeed Paul O'Connell as Ireland's next captain, goes over for his side's only try during the warm-up match against Wales in Dublin last month

by Nick Purewal

IAIN HENDERSON has challenged Ireland to give "the ultimate athlete" Paul O'Connell a fitting Test finale by producing their best-ever run.

Tight-five talisman O'Connell will retire from the Test arena after this year's tournament, and he will then be swapping his home province of Munster for the enticing Cote d'Azur shores at Toulon.

The 35-year-old lock enters the global gathering as Ireland's oldest captain of all time, but in scintillating and gritty form, with Joe Schmidt's men sitting second in the world rankings.

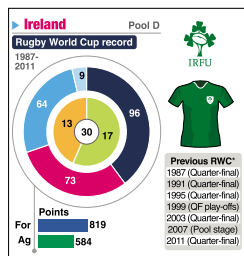

Ulster lock Henderson admitted Ireland are targeting a first-ever semi-final as much for national treasure O'Connell as anything else.

"He's been a real talisman for Munster as well as Ireland for years and years, and of course no one is going to begrudge him that move to France," said Henderson.

"The main challenge now is for us to hopefully go further in the tournament than Ireland ever have – that would be the ideal send-off for him, if we could.

"He's obviously a fantastic leader and captain on the pitch, but what people don't really see is how professional he is off the pitch.

"He has an impeccable diet and approach, and the way he trains is phenomenal. He is the ultimate athlete."

Imposing Ulster lock Henderson has long since been earmarked as O'Connell's natural successor, but the 23-year-old is understandably refusing to look to the future.

The powerful second row insists O'Connell can continue to set the standard at the tournament, when Ireland take on France, Italy, Canada and Romania in Pool D.

Head coach Schmidt's men will open their campaign by facing Canada at the Millennium Stadium on September 19, with Henderson adamant O'Connell will lead from the front with the exacting lineout coordination and bullish grunt work that has underpinned Ireland's two consecutive RBS 6 Nations title charges.

When the old warhorse departs for a sojourn in a southern French field, Henderson and company can battle over his starting berth.

The Ulster man might be favourite, but will not allow thoughts to stray from the challenge, or the captain's example he must still follow.

"I learned so much from just watching him in my early days, and of course then from playing against him," said Henderson.

"Those inter-provincial matches are seriously tough battles, and going up against guys like that really helps you learn quickly."

Kiwi boss Schmidt has kept his Irish charges guessing all summer as to his preferred selection plans.

True to form, the demanding boss has shrouded his thoughts in mystery in a bid to keep his players on edge – and therefore in focus.

Henderson believes Schmidt has more than enough credit in the bank for the Ireland squad to commit wholeheartedly to his relentless regime.

"Joe wouldn't be doing anything if he didn't have a logical explanation for it," said Henderson.

"If you were to take the time and ask him why we were doing specific things then he would always have an answer for that.

"He's meticulous in his planning – everything we do is for a reason.

"Again, that's just another way of everyone staying sharp and on their toes."

TIME WARP: Aldous Huxley's Brave New World has been newly adapted for the Royal & Derngate

Play takes new look at a dystopian world

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

Aldous Huxley's groundbreaking novel, Brave New World, newly adapted for the stage by Dawn King, runs at the Royal & Derngate, in Northampton to Saturday, September 26.

The co-production by Royal & Derngate and Northampton and Touring Consortium Theatre Company, has a talented ensemble cast with Abigail McKern, William Postlethwaite, Gruffudd Glyn, Olivia Morgan and Scott Karim joining the previously announced Sophie Ward, with Frantic Assembly's Eddie Kay included in the creative team for this world premiere production.

This Brave New World has no family, religion or war. Lust and pleasure have replaced love and art. People are safe, healthy and not afraid of death. They get what they want, and they never want what they can't have.

Everyone is happy now. When this stability is threatened, one young woman learns the pain of love and one young man gives in to the love of pain.

In the role of Margaret Mond, the Regional World

Controller for Western Europe (a character that was the male Mustapha Mond in the original novel), this world premiere production features popular actress Sophie Ward, whose extensive screen credits include TV series Land Girls, Heartbeat and Holby City, and films take in Jane Eyre and Wuthering Heights.

Tickets cost £10 to £29 and can be booked by calling the box office on 01604 624811 or online at www.royalandderngate.co.uk

The production is recommended for ages 14 and above.

WHAT'S ON ROUND-UP

Aggers and Swanny to pitch up at theatre

DOUBLE ACT:
Jonathan Agnew
and, right, Graeme Swann

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Since the last home Ashes series in 2013, Jonathon Agnew's Evenings with Aggers have been delighting audiences all over the country.

Now Aggers is looking forward to teaming up again with his new Test Match Special colleague and spin legend Graeme Swann, in a fascinating and entertaining evening for cricket fans and non-lovers of the game alike at Royal & Derngate on Saturday, September 19.

The most prolific wickettaker in Test cricket during his career, Swanny retired with England's sixth highest tally.

He was the leading off spinner and is second among all England slow bowlers only to Derek Underwood. He was also one of England's great character cricketers, refreshingly individualistic on and off the field, bringing fun wherever he played.

There will be an opportunity for the audience to tweet Aggers with their own questions, while Northampton-born and ex-Northants player Swanny lifts the lid on Kevin Pietersen and other larger than life characters from the England dressing room, with hilarious anecdotes from his illustrious career and impressions of his fellow commentators and former team mates.

This event is being run in association with the Professional Cricketers Association and they are raising money for the organisation's Benevolent Fund.

An Evening With Aggers & Swanny is on stage on 7.30pm, with tickets priced at £26.

To book tickets call the box office on 01604 624811 or visit www.royalandderngate.co.uk.

Choir looking for new voices to swell ranks

Wellingborough Orpheus Choir is looking for new singers in all voice sections and would particularly welcome a few more young people to swell their ranks.

An ability to sight read, though useful, is not essential and auditions are not required.

Rehearsals take place on Monday evenings from 7.30pm to 9.15pm at Park Junior School, Great Park Street in Wellingborough.

These will be under the direction of conductor Andrew Moodie.

New singers pay nothing for their first term and membership is completely free to students.

The choir started rehearsals of the ever-popular Messiah on Monday for their Christmas concert, which is taking place at the URC, High Street, Wellingborough on Saturday, December 5.

If you are interested in joining Wellingborough Orpheus Choir then call the choir secretary on 01933 665191.

FINE VOICE: Wellingborough Orpheus Choir

To find out more about the Wellingborough Orpheus Choir and to get further details of how to join and who to contact then you should visit the website at www.orpheuschoir.info

Cumberbatch Hamlet to be screened

People can enjoy Sonia Friedman's Production of Hamlet, starring Benedict Cumberbatch, on their doorstep when it is screened live to The Castle from the Barbican on Thursday, October 15 at 7pm.

Cumberbatch (BBC's Sherlock, The Imitation Game, Frankenstein at the National Theatre) takes on the title role in Shakespeare's great tragedy.

As a country arms itself for war, a family tears itself apart. Forced to avenge his father's death but paralysed by the task ahead, Hamlet rages against the impossibility of his predicament, threatening both his sanity and the security of the state.

Tickets cost £15 (£13) and can be bought from the box office on 01933 270 007 or online at www.thecastle.org.uk.

Hamlet is suitable for audiences aged 12 and over.

Brave New World

It is a compelling, and at times uncomfortable, adaptation of Aldous Huxley's dystopian Brave New World which challenges the audience at Northampton's Royal Theatre.

On press night on Tuesday the theatre was packed, and any early-run technical issues had clearly been fixed, as the multimedia production was visually stunning.

Huge video screens hung above and around the stage adding texture and depth while the original music by These New Puritans was perfect for the adaptation.

The casting is excellent, particularly for the performances by Gruffudd Glyn as the bullied misfit Bernard Marx, Samantha Pearl's naturalistic portrayal of conformist Polly, Olivia Morgan's confident Lenina and Postlethwaite's conflicted Savage. All ones-to-watch.

Also in the talented cast of ten is Abigail McKern as Linda, who gives both mature gravitas and light relief to the piece, while playwright Dawn King's adaptation cleverly morphs the dictatorial World Controller Mustapha Mond into the female Margaret Mond, played with cold indifference by Sophie Ward.

There were issues – particularly with the pacing and delivery in the first half when the necessary set-up of the story meant the audience was starting to lull into a Soma-like stupor. I'm sure this is a production that will gain momentum and develop as the run continues.

It is a definite go see: an excellent story and a timely reflection.

Five star VW Touran is one of safest family cars in UK

The all-new Volkswagen Touran has been awarded a five-star rating by independent safety organisation Euro NCAP – with an overall score that marks it out as one of the safest and most protective family cars in the industry.

Set to arrive in the UK in December, the new Touran excelled in the latest round of Euro NCAP tests, thanks to its a first-class safety package that includes an optimised body structure, highly effective belt, seat and airbag combination and innovative driver assistance systems. The Touran performed strongly in all four key areas: occupant protection for adults and children, pedestrian protection and safety assistance, and highlighted Volkswagen's commitment to occupant and pedestrian safety.

Euro NCAP has been regarded as one of the most important benchmarks for vehicle safety in Europe since 1997. The new Touran was put through the organisation's newest and most rigorous test programme, and recorded an 88 per cent rating for adult safety. The tests carried out included 'Frontal impact into a deformable barrier at 40mph with 40 per cent overlap' and 'Frontal impact at 30mph into a rigid barrier with 100 per cent overlap'. Other tests were 'Impact from the side at 30mph into the vehicle side structure' and 'Side impact against a pole at 20mph.'

The new family MPV also recorded excellent results in the important child protection sub-section. Thanks to ISOFIX and top tether child seat anchors being fitted as standard, the new Touran achieved over 89 per cent of the available points. In the pedestrian protection category, the Touran was given a total score of 71 per cent with recognition of the Touran's numerous engineering features designed to reduce the risk of injury to passengers-by.

The new Touran is available to order now with prices starting from £22,240. Based on Volkswagen's MQB platform, the new model offers more space, greater practicality and lower running costs than the previous model. Safety equipment includes airbags for driver and front-seat passenger (with front-seat passenger airbag deactivation and including knee airbag on the driver's side) and a head airbag system for front and rear-seat passengers, including side airbags.

COVERCAR

Mazda CX-3

Take a look inside...

Mazda pulls out all the stops and condenses all the best bits of the gorgeous CX-5 into a smaller package. The CX-3 comes in front or all-wheel drive, and is offered with petrol or diesel power. It's light and it's good looking, with a chunky equipment list and reasonable pricing. What more could you ask for?

Like most crossovers in this class, the CX-3 is offered with a choice of front or all-wheel drive chassis, and petrol and diesel engines. The petrol engines comprise 120 or 150PS 2.0-litre units which together will account for around 50 per cent of UK sales. Available in all trims, with both manual and automatic transmissions, the 120PS powerplant with front-wheel drive is sure to be the most popular petrol variant. The 150PS petrol unit is mated to an all-wheel drive chassis and a six-speed manual gearbox in Sport Nav trim. The 105PS 1.5-litre diesel engine will power predominantly front-wheel drive models, although the range-topping Sport Nav is all-wheel drive and is also offered with both manual and automatic transmissions. Mazda's SKYACTIV design ethos strips unnecessary weight out of the engines, body, chassis and transmissions and while this sometimes means that road noise is a little higher than some rivals, huge paybacks come in sharper handling, stronger braking, keener acceleration and better efficiency.

Materials quality will be better than you'll expect if you haven't parked your posterior in a Mazda for a few years and the cabin is more spacious than any car this short (and with such a long bonnet) has any right to be. In fact, we ended up wondering how its rivals were getting beaten time and again on various interior space metrics by the CX-3. But they were.

Buying a supermini-based crossover usually boils down to one key question. "Will I look a prize plum behind the wheel of it?" All too often the answer is yes, and buyers instead choose a more anonymous supermini alternative that doesn't draw attention to itself. The Mazda CX-3 has enough about it that it never looks self-conscious or try-hard. The styling works, the brand is solid and sensible with all the right engineering credibility and the product itself is unexpectedly delightful.

The New smart fortwo Cabrio

The countdown has started for the new fortwo cabrio, a particularly iconic variant of the new model series. The open-top two-seater will have its world premiere in September at the International Motor Show in Frankfurt. The new smart cabrio will be available for ordering from mid-November and the first models will reach dealers in February 2016. Three cars in one: at the touch of a button the new smart cabrio is transformed from a closed two-seater into a car with a large sliding canvas sunroof, or a fully fledged cabriolet with the soft top completely open. This enables the fresh air driving experience to be adapted to the weather or the driver's mood. This flexibility offered by the "tritop" folding soft top and the removable roof bars is a special feature – and not just in this segment. At the same time, the new smart cabrio is the only true cabriolet in its vehicle class

Exclusive Update For Golf Cabriolet

The Golf Cabriolet is one of the most successful open-top cars on the German market and one of the most popular of its kind in Europe. The Golf Cabriolet for model year 2016 has sportier exterior, new colours and an upgraded interior. Volkswagen is presenting a visually extensive update of the four-seater soft-top best seller at the Frankfurt International Motor Show (IAA). The changes are easy to identify by the considerably sportier front bumper, the striking side sills and sporty accents on the rear bumper. Moreover, the convertible can now be configured even more individually. Besides six new exterior colours, there is an additional soft-top colour and six new wheel designs. In the interior, there is a new generation of steering wheels and new trim elements as well as new designs for the cloth and leather seats. The range of engines in the Golf Cabriolet has also switched to the Euro 6 emissions standard. The four petrol (TSI) and two diesel engines (TDI) in total are direct-injection turbo engines with powerful torques to match. Also new on board are the Composition Colour and Composition Media radio/infotainment systems.

Five Stars For New Audi Q7

Five Stars For New Audi Q7 The European Euro NCAP consortium has awarded the new Audi Q7 with the maximum five stars for safety. The results for adult protection in frontal and side impact collisions, pedestrian protection and child safety put the current Audi Q7 among the safest cars in its category. The results for the rear passengers in a frontal impact collision show that not only are the driver and front passenger in the Audi Q7 very well protected, the rear passengers are, too. The model received the "Euro NCAP Advanced" award for the multicollision brake assist system, one aspect of the standard Audi pre sense city, and the optionally available Audi pre sense basic, which in emergency situations tensions the seatbelt before a collision and closes the windows and sunroof. The multicollision brake assist system initiates braking automatically in case of an accident to reduce the risk of skidding and the danger of further collisions.

All-New Mazda MX-5 Passes A Thousand Sales

Mazda's iconic roadster is once again proving its popularity with British sports car drivers. Ahead of its official on-sale date of the 29th August, advanced orders of the all-new Mazda MX-5 have passed the one thousand mark, with UK buyers spending more than £20 million as they rush to get hold of the fourth-generation of the world's best-selling two-seater sports car. With prices starting from £18,495 (OTR), the all-new Mazda MX-5 is set to reaffirm Mazda's dominance of the affordable sports car sector. Maintaining the driver-focused ethos it's famed for, the latest MX-5 was conceived and developed under the concept of "innovate in order to preserve." This engineering philosophy has allowed Mazda to maintain the agility, fun and engagement that has always defined the MX-5 while at the same time meeting ever-increasing safety and efficiency requirements, alongside improved refinement.

New SEAT Ibiza Cupra

The new Ibiza CUPRA shows the essence of the SEAT brand in its purest form – emotional design, outstanding performance and state-of-the-art technology unite to form one of the most dynamic cars in its class. With its compact dimensions and excellent functionality, the Ibiza CUPRA is the perfect hot hatch for everyday use. The performance generated by the 1.8-litre TSI engine is impressive – acceleration from 0-100 km/h in just 6.7 seconds, a top speed of 235 km/h – paired with exceptional efficiency. The new interior creates an extraordinary feeling of quality, while SEAT Full Link, the SEAT DriveApp and the SEAT ConnectApp enable optimum connectivity. In one area, however, there was very little room for improvement – the Ibiza's emotional and dynamic design is incredibly well received by customers and is cited as the main reason for purchasing the Spanish model.

New DS4 And DS4 Crossback

One model, two distinct body styles and a new front end, unique design that embodies the spirit of avant-garde. Even more advanced technology with refinement apparent in every detail. Introducing the New DS 4 & DS 4 Crossback. Having sold more than 115,000 examples worldwide since its launch in 2011, DS 4 is gaining new impetus with the arrival of two complementary versions: New DS 4 is a dynamic and elegant hatchback for customers seeking sleek styling and driving pleasure, whilst the New DS 4 Crossback – a new version in the range – is a car with 'go-anywhere' looks and a higher driving position. With this twofold offering, DS Automobiles is addressing the expectations of customers in the premium compact vehicle segment, which has seen some important changes in recent years. Crossover vehicles now make up 30% of the premium compact hatchback market. With its flowing lines, touches of chrome and high-performance engines, New DS 4 has all the qualities of a premium hatchback. New DS 4 Crossback is an eminently versatile car. Its go-anywhere stance is reflected in its higher ride height and its large black wheels, as well as its wheel arch trims and roof bars, amongst other additional features

All-New Honda Jazz NOW YOU HAS JAZZ

An astonishing number of Honda Jazz owners buy another and the third generation version we're looking at here aims to keep them loyal. But the Japanese brand also needs to attract new converts to its clever little supermini, something that will be easier to do with this MK3 model thanks to its smarter looks, better driving experience and optional hybrid power. For very good reasons, this is the supermini that industry insiders most commonly recommend.

The Jazz rides on Honda's new global B-segment chassis and as such is both lighter and more structurally rigid than its predecessor. The suspension is also lighter,

With struts up front and a torsion beam rear end combining with a longer wheelbase to better isolate road noise and surface imperfections. The revised dampers also assist in improving ride quality and a redesigned electric power-assisted steering system claims to deliver better feedback for the driver. Yes, you heard that right: feedback. In a Honda Jazz. Things have certainly changed.

Comprehensive soundproofing brings further improvements, and Honda has worked at reducing engine, road and wind noise. The volume Jazz engine choice is a 1.3 litre i-VTEC petrol unit with 102PS of power. It's mated to a six-speed manual transmission which replaces the old five-speed 'box, and there's also the option of a semi-automatic CVT transmission. There's no diesel engine planned, but as before, there's a petrol/electric hybrid option.

As for the style, well Honda has changed just about everything possible on the outside but it's a Jazz and you know what? It still looks like a Jazz. Slightly bulbous and unthreatening it remains but some of the detailing is now a bit sassier.

Redborne
Upper School and Community College

Redborne Upper School and Community College
Flitwick Road, Ampthill, Bedfordshire MK45 2NU
Telephone: 01525 404462

NOR: 1,500 (420 Sixth Form) 13 - 18 Mixed Comprehensive

SIXTH FORM PASTORAL SUPPORT OFFICER Required as soon as possible

36 hours/week (term time plus training days and 5 additional days)
Level 3A (Point range 15 to 18) £16,572 - £17,714 pro rata
Actual Salary will be £13,977 - £14,940

A flexible, keen and enthusiastic Pastoral Support Officer is required to work in an extremely busy office. The successful candidate will be able to work independently and be highly organised. Excellent IT, communication and interpersonal skills are essential.

The Pastoral Support Officer will be based in the Sixth Form Office and one of the frontline staff dealing with students, parents and staff as well as supporting the work of the Year Team staff.

Please telephone Lou Ellis (Principal's P.A.) at the school for further details and an application form or visit our website to download the relevant information and application forms (www.redborne.com)

All offers of employment are "conditional" until Disclosure and Barring checks have been completed, qualification checks and satisfactory references have been received. Redborne is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment.

Closing Date: Wednesday 14th September, 2015

Redborne is a successful school that achieves excellent examination results, with 90% of students gaining 5A* - C grades at GCSE (typically over 70% including mathematics and English). A Level results are also very good with over 55% of passes at 'A*', 'A' or 'B' grades and an overall pass rate of 100%. About 80% of the Sixth Form students go on to university and each year a number of students get into Oxford and Cambridge. The school is well regarded and popular, situated in a very pleasant area of Central Bedfordshire, within easy reach of London. The school's most recent OFSTED report was excellent and we were graded as "outstanding". Redborne is also a National College Leadership Development School and a Leading Edge School.

INITIAL TEACHER TRAINING

School Direct is an exciting new school based programme of initial teacher training. We are currently recruiting for September 2015 please view our website for more details.

KEY STAGE 2 TEACHER

REQUIRED FOR JANUARY 2016 OR SEPTEMBER 2016

We are seeking to appoint an enthusiastic and well qualified teacher to inspire and motivate children in year 4 of our happy and successful prep school.

The role will primarily focus on class teaching but a particular strength in English would be beneficial. The successful candidate should also be willing to play a full part in extra-curricular activities and the broader life of the school.

Bedford has its own salary scale, which is above the national scale.

For further details and an application pack please visit www.bedfordschool.org.uk/academic-staff-vacancies

Completed applications should be emailed to:

ON's coach Tarpley honoured with award

TOP MAN: Tarpley after receiving his award

OLD Northamptonians' Paul Tarpley was the toast of Twickenham last Wednesday night after landing the prestigious QBE Insurance Coach of the Year Award gong at the inaugural National Rugby Awards.

Tarpley, who is taking a year-long sabbatical after coaching for the last 12 years at Old Northamptonians RFC, beat off stiff competition from David Cook of Heathfield and Waldron RFC, Phil Olds of Redruth RFC, Mark Anderson of Stamford RFC, Jamie Green of Royston RFC and Mike McHugh-Hicks of Wetherby RFC.

The Lawson Keys National Rugby Awards honoured the achievements of thousands of rugby clubs across the country – acknowledging their dedication and commitment to rugby.

Tarpley has taken a team from under-six level all the way through to under-18s, while in the last six years has lost just three of his 120 games – an achievement at any level.

Tarpley played down his role in the success, dedicating his award to the coaches, players and parents who have assisted him on his incredible journey.

"This is a fantastic honour and I'm shocked to be honest – I never expected this," said Tarpley.

"This means so much – although it's my name above the door, it's a team effort – I've got a fantastic group of coaches around me and I've worked with these guys all the way from U6s through to U18s.

"I've still got a dozen lads with me from U6s and it has just been a fantastic journey for the whole club.

"From junior rugby we have won every East Midlands final and every East Midlands league – it's not all about winning but it certainly makes things easier.

"I'm having a year off now, I have a grandson who is just a year old – and my daughter thinks in three years time I will be doing it all again when he gets to four and starts playing tag rugby – she is probably right.

"For the last four years I have had a season ticket for Northampton Saints and not used it – so I plan to take advantage of it this time around.

"It's a year sabbatical – most of the lads I coach are now off to university but I know I will be back at some point that's for sure."

The National Rugby Awards are the brainchild of England skipper Chris Robshaw, who said: "I am honoured to be a part of an event that recognises the often unheralded work and achievements of those involved in rugby around the country."

Supporters have a right to

spot@lmsmedia.co.uk

Northampton Town's fans are on the brink of revolt over a proposed takeover stalling and a new stand not being finished and manager Chris Wilder believes they have a right to ask questions.

The Cobblers' Supporters Trust are planning to protest before Saturday's game against Oxford United at Sixfields as part of their #WeWantAnswers campaign over the perceived lack of progress.

Talk of Northampton being taken over by an Indian consortium began way back in June but the process has been a painful one even though chairman David Cardoza insists it will soon be resolved.

In the meantime, the new East Stand at Sixfields remains just a shell after construction halted for a second time during the summer as a result of the saga.

Wilder said: "I thought the atmosphere was pretty flat on Saturday (against Dagenham & Redbridge) and I think that's off the back of fans seeing the stand not being built.

"They're asking questions and that's their prerogative – they're supporters that have been here since before me, since before the chairman and before a lot of other people.

"They're the ones that will be here when I'm gone and the chairman's gone and they were great against Colchester, fantastic at Newcastle and they've been great with me since I've walked through the door.

"It is heightened because they are frustrated and they're in a situation where they're in limbo.

"Of course, we all want the stand finished, we all want clarity on everything – I want answers to where things are going – but it's the chairman's club and he decides what direction it goes in."

Wilder insists that the unrest among the fan base will not affect matters on the field, where the Cobblers are without a win in four games in League Two.

He also has no doubt that the fans will continue to get behind his players and is expecting a good atmosphere when his old club Oxford come to visit.

"I 100 per cent believe the supporters will be on our side," he said. "They're showing their frustration and that's their decision as supporters of their football club.

"We've got to make sure we give them something to shout about, but there's absolutely no doubt in my mind that the supporters that walk through the door on Saturday will divide the protest, if there is one, and shield that from the players.

"They want to win just as much as us and I think it's come to a situation where maybe they're frustrated at things not moving on as quickly as they would like."

The Cobblers' poor performance against Dagenham last Saturday, which saw them booted at the final whistle, may also be a reason for the situation with the trust coming to a head according to Wilder.

"Sometimes the only way to show that frustration is when they pay their money, walk through the door and have a moan and groan at the team," he said.

"We have to make sure we do better and hopefully things can be resolved and they get the answers that they're after very soon."

The crowd certainly won't be flat on Saturday as Oxford have sold out their allocation – in contrast to the Daggers only bringing 121 fans with them last week.

"It's a dual thing from supporters and players," Wilder said. "Sometimes the players have to get the supporters off their seat and sometimes the supporters have to help the players to raise their game.

"I imagine there won't be any need for motivation for my players on Saturday because they know the importance of the game in terms of getting ourselves back on track.

"They also know they're going to have to play well against a very good Oxford United team that's full of quality players."

Buchanan: Fans' protest will not affect the focus of the players

Northampton Town defender David Buchanan is focussing on matters on the pitch as the club's supporters trust plan a protest during the Cobblers' match against Oxford United on Saturday.

The trust have aired their grievances this week over the lack of clarity over the drawn-out takeover of the club as well as the half-built East Stand at Sixfields and have set up their own #WeWantAnswers campaign.

But Buchanan insists these problems have not been playing on his mind, saying: "To be honest, I don't take any notice of what goes on off the pitch.

"I'm paid by the football club to turn up on a Saturday afternoon or a Tuesday night and all I try and focus on 100 per cent every time I go out is matchday and the three points.

"The fans have been a different class for us this year – they've come in their numbers to Barnet, to Newcastle and all-round they've supported us.

"To be honest, I don't know much around the protest but if the fans want to do that they're entitled to, aren't they?"

"What I will say to the fans is we haven't been doing it and we've lost two games at home in the league already, but get behind us because every one of us is trying to turn it around."

COMMENT: #Wewantanswers say frustrated fans

GRIPPED BY THE COBBLERS

BY TOM REED
sport@snmedia.co.uk

Furious Northampton Town fans are demanding clarity on the club's stalled redevelopment and protracted takeover with supporters mounting a #WeWantAnswers campaign ahead of a protest this Saturday at Sixfields.

The land around the stadium undulates due to the breakdown of buried rubbish on the former landfill tip and it seems Chairman David Cardoza is in for a bumpy ride like those that pull into the club's West Stand car park.

On the surface, it appears that the fans' hackles were raised after the recent lacklustre defeat to Dagenham and Redbridge, but that is to miss the point.

Town fans have been noting their concerns over the stadium redevelopment for quite some time with a 622 page thread on internet forum the Hotel End dedicated to dissecting what information has come from the club.

The supporters then rooted out the accounts of 1st Land Limited (in administration), the company appointed as contractors to handle the redevelopment.

Moreover, with a rusting half-built East Stand, Cobblers' fans have been asking questions about the as yet unnamed Indian consortium since the takeover was announced some ten weeks ago.

On Tuesday, Chairman David Cardoza and Northampton Town Supporters' Trust elected board rep Andy Clarke took part in BBC Radio Northampton interviews on the ongoing saga at Sixfields.

In his interview, David Cardoza said that "the Supporters' Trust have never put any questions to me, the Supporters Trust have never asked me for a meeting" while some fans were dissatisfied with the responses of the, admittedly non-media trained, club Director Clarke.

It might be a case of Cardoza splitting hairs when it comes to suggesting that the Trust haven't requested a meeting. On Monday, the Trust released a statement that claimed Andy Clarke had called for a board meeting of the club the previous weekend, a request which does not appear to have been taken up: hence the Trust's support for direct action at the match versus Oxford United this weekend.

The Trust released a statement here:

<http://ntfctrust.co.uk/latest-news/article/trust-backs-wewantanswers-campaign-ahead-of-oxford-game>

Indeed, Northampton Town Supporters Ltd, on the 17th July had posed a number of questions to David Cardoza via their website and social media which got to the crux of their concerns:

<http://ntfctrust.co.uk/latest-news/article/update-latest-statement-from-trust-on-redevelopment-and-proposed-takeover>

All the while, comparisons to Northampton Saints' new Barwell Stand, built likewise by Buckingham Construction, continue.

Funded by a similar, low interest council loan, Saints' new stand is being assembled at a rate of knots. Contrast too, Peter Haddon Partners' design for the Barwell Stand (who also designed the Saints existing stands) with the various abandoned plans for the Cobblers' redevelopment.

Quite why Ballast Nedam, Sixfields' original constructors, were not brought in or at least their plans for simple stadium expansion utilised is a matter of conjecture.

Scunthorpe United's £18 million new build stadium is a good example of the thorough supporter communication that the Sixfields land deal appears to lack with the Iron going through two rounds of public consultation on the design and financing of their 12,000 seater.

It seems that the #WeWantAnswers campaign is no longer prepared to accept what it is perceived as the vague response from the club's owners.

Rugby World Cup

Wood stars but Wales are plunged into crisis

FLYING HIGH: Wood takes flight vs Ireland

Less than two weeks remain before rugby's greatest showpiece kicks off and finally the shoving match before the main battle is over.

All seven of the Northampton Saints players taking part in the Rugby World Cup were out on the field for their countries at some point as the final round of warm-up games took place.

Thankfully, they all came out of their matches in one piece – which is more than what can be said for some of their peers!

England soothed a few nerves after their Paris horror-show with an improved display in their 22-13 win over Ireland thanks to tries by Jonny May and Anthony Watson.

A trio of Northampton forwards contributed to the full at Twickenham as Tom Wood and Courtney Lawes both started while Kieran Brookes replaced Dan Cole for the last 18 minutes.

Wood was the pick of those three Saints as England's pack reassured themselves following their battering at the hands of the French a fortnight ago.

While George North enjoyed his run-out for Wales – scoring their only try in the 23-19 win over Italy at the Millennium Stadium – it was a day that had those on the other side of the Severn Bridge almost in mourning.

Not for the unconvincing performance from the Welsh but because of the cruciate ligament and foot injuries suffered by Leigh Halfpenny and Rhys Webb respectively that ruled them out of the World Cup.

George Pisi was back in the side for Samoa while his brother Ken and Kahn Fotuali'i were also involved in their last-gasp 25-19 win over Wasps at the Ricoh Arena.

The visitors needed a late try by Wayne Avey to snatch victory for them after James Gaskell's score almost gave Wasps a famous win in what was their first game of pre-season.

Three teammates, two crashes but thankfully no injuries at Silverstone

MOTORSPORT

The World Series by Renault event at Silverstone last weekend was marked by two dramatic crashes on the opening lap of the Eurocup Formula Renault 2.0 race.

Jehan Daruvala of Fortec Motorsports was the first to be propelled off the track as the 16-year-old Indian spun off team-mate Ben Barnicoat and his car flipped upside-down before landing on the tyre wall.

This led to the safety car being brought out, but after the cars began to bunch up, Barnicoat was involved in a collision with another team-mate that resulted in an even more terrifying crash.

This time he went into the back of team-mate Ferdinand Habsburg, sending his car rocketing 20 feet in the air before it crashed back to earth, which caused the race to be red-flagged for the debris to be cleared away.

Thankfully, all three drivers escaped unhurt.

HORROR CRASH: The car of Ferdinand Habsburg flies high into the air before coming crashing down to earth.

Wilder understands the fans' frustrations

Northampton Town manager Chris Wilder believes it's the fans' prerogative to ask questions about the club's future as confusion reigns off the pitch at Sixfields.

The Supporters' Trust, frustrated at the lack of progress in a proposed takeover and the building of a new stand, have set up a #WeWantAnswers campaign and plan to protest before the Cobblers' match against Oxford United on Saturday.

Wilder said: "They're showing their frustration and that's their decision as supporters of their football club."

Legend Matfield signs for Saints

BY MATT WRIGHT
sport@snmedia.co.uk

Northampton Saints have announced the signing of veteran South Africa international Victor Matfield, who will join them at the conclusion of the upcoming Rugby World Cup.

The 38-year-old lock is a legendary line-out operator, whether that's taking his own team's throws or his opponents', and is the Springboks' record cap-holder, having worn the famous green jersey on 123 occasions.

He was part of South Africa's World Cup-winning side in 2007 and won the man of the match award as they defeated England 15-6 in the final at the Stade de France.

Matfield actually retired after South Africa were knocked out of the 2011 World Cup by Australia in the quarter-finals.

He reversed this decision two years later, went on to successfully regain his place in the formidable Springboks' line-up and will now be taking part in his fourth World Cup for them.

Matfield, who has most recently played provincial rugby for the Blue Bulls in Pretoria said: "It is an honour for me to join the Northampton Saints."

"Seven years ago Saints very nearly became my rugby home and I feel privileged to be given

SPRINGBOK GREAT: Matfield has played 123 times for South Africa

another opportunity to join the club.

"I join Saints to make the best contribution I possibly can and I have a genuine desire to hopefully play an instrumental role in a team effort, with the aim of lifting silverware in both the Aviva Premiership and the European Rugby Champions Cup."

"For now I will focus only on the Springboks' campaign to win the Rugby World Cup, but I am very excited about the journey with Saints from November onwards."

The signing of Matfield adds ballast to the Saints' forward pack after USA international Samu Manoa joined European champions Toulon during the summer.

He also brings a wealth of experience after a glittering career that includes winning two Rugby Championships and three Super Rugby titles.

He was also one half of a fabled second-row partnership alongside the recently-retired Bakkies Botha, who he lined up with 63 times for South Africa – a record in Test match rugby.

Northampton director of rugby Jim Mallender said: "Victor is one of the outstanding forwards in world rugby."

"He has been at the top of the game for well over a decade now and his selection by South Africa for a fourth consecutive World Cup shows that he remains a force to be reckoned with."

"We're very much looking forward to Victor joining up with the squad and believe he has a lot to offer the club, not only on the field, but also off it in terms of his leadership qualities and experience."

Matfield's signing means there will now be eight Northampton players representing the club in the World Cup.

Courtney Lawes, Tom Wood and Kieran Brookes are all involved with England and will come up against Wales' George North in the pool stage.

Brothers George and Ken Pisi and Kahn Fotuali'i will all be looking to make a big impact with Samoa.
